

University of Central Florida Excellence in Research Awards

2017 – 2018 Application

Application Due: Monday, January 8, 2018

Welcome to the digital College of Medicine faculty excellence award nomination process! The digital system has been initiated at the college level in order to ensure accuracy of documentation and to expedite the committee review process at the college level. Note: The digital system is only applicable for nominations at UCF College of Medicine.

Should you be awarded the College of Medicine Award for Excellence in Research you will be required to prepare a hard copy of the application in the way prescribed in the University Program Announcement and return to Angie Griffin by January 30, 2018. This will ensure that you can also be considered for the award at the University level.

The following checklist can be used to track your application progress. Once you have completed the candidate portion of the application please save and e-mail the application to the administrator Angela.Griffin@ucf.edu. The administrator will submit your application to the reviewing committee.
