

The UCF College of Medicine is offering The Stanford Faculty Development course

Dr. Rechell Rodriguez is a distinguished physician and educator who has served in various clinical settings, leadership roles and academic positions. She is currently a Professor of Medicine in the Medical Education Department of the College of Medicine at the University of Central Florida. As a graduate of the Stanford Faculty Development Center – Clinical Teacher Program in 2010, she is certified to offer the course.

Below are the topics for the course. All sessions are in person.

You must attend all 6 sessions to receive the Stanford certificate at the end of the course. If you would like to learn more about this course, please see https://med.stanford.edu/sfdc/clinical\_teaching.html

- ▶ Learning Climate
- ▶ Control of Session
- ▶ Communication of Goals
- ▶ Promotion of Understanding and Retention
- ▶ Evaluation
- ▶ Feedback.

Please email Dr. Rechell Rodriguez (rechell.rodriguez@ucf.edu) if you are interested in being enrolled. Max capacity for the course is 8. Waitlist will be available for future course offerings